Projects

Makahiki

- An open source web framework for creating university dorm energy competitions.
- Implemented using the Python and the Django web application framework.
- Interacts with WattDepot (<http://code.google.com/p/wattdepot>) to present near-real time energy information to participants.
- Incorporates gamification concepts such as a point system, badges, and administrator defined quests.
- Source code available at <http://github.com/keokilee/makahiki>.

iGeoRSS

- iPhone application that acts as a reader for the GeoRSS format.
- Stories can be viewed as a list or on a map using MapKit.
- Orders GeoRSS stories based on the current location of the user.
- Source code available by request.

Publications

Brewer, Robert, George Lee, and Philip Johnson, The Kukui Cup: a Dorm Energy Competition Focused on Sustainable Behavior, Proceedings of the 44th Hawaii International Conference on System Sciences, January, 2011, full text available at <http://csdl.ics.hawaii.edu/techreports/10-07/10-07.pdf>

Experience

Research Assistant, University of Hawaii at Manoa 6/10 to Present

- Developing a web application for the Kukui Cup, a dorm energy competition to be held in October 2011.
- Involved in both the programming and the overall design of the competition.
- Performed a usability test to evaluate the design of the web application.

Student Assistant, University of Hawaii at Manoa 8/09 to 9/10

- Assisted on a grant that investigated bridging connections between small, specialized social networks.
- Supported a study involving students in an entry-level computer science class.
- Implemented design changes and bug fixes on the web site (<http://3helix.org>).
- Performed data retrieval to support analysis of the results.

Summer Intern, Maui High Performance Computing Center 6/09 to 7/09

- Created a web application designed for scientists who want to run tasks on the super computer but are unfamiliar with the UNIX command line.
- Created a web form that generates a script for the scheduler and runs it on the super computer.
- Used HTML, Javascript, and CSS to interact with a SOAP API.
- Presented and demonstrated the application to potential users.

Intern, Peer News 2/09 to 6/09

- Developed a prototype iPhone Twitter application that used Peer News' API.
- Worked closely with a designer to develop the user interface.

Research Assistant, University of Hawaii at Manoa 8/07 to 7/09

- Performed a data analysis of over 8000 users in a MySQL database for a second language learning website in Japan.
- Fixed bugs and implemented new features in Discourse, a Ruby on Rails application developed by the Laboratory for Interactive Learning Technologies (<http://discourse.ics.hawaii.edu>).
- Interacted with users of Discourse if they encounter bugs in the system.
- Collaborated with other researchers to develop mobile location-based applications for the iPhone.

Computer/Clerical Specialist, University of Hawaii at Manoa 6/06 to 8/07

- Worked with researchers in the College of Education's Curriculum Research and Development Group (CRDG) to resolve computer software and hardware issues.
- Gained experience solving issues in Mac OS X and Windows 2000/XP.
- Set up audio and visual equipment for both classrooms and larger functions.
